orientated & outcome-based community capacity development and advocacy at all levels of policy making from the local and regional, to the national and international. This dynamic and progressive team, has a long established successful proven track record in engaging with hard-to-reach women in divided and marginalised communities regionally, and also has developed strong advocacy models and structures with policy and decision makers through collaboration, partnership and support of the existing women's sector infrastructure in NI.

Steering Group: The Steering Group involves Delivery partners, who will take overall responsibility for delivery. Project co-ordinators will also participate in steering group meetings. It is anticipated that an advisory group of stakeholders and participants will also be established to support strongly user led delivery.

Project co-ordinators: will be employed by NIRWN and WRDA, and will have day to day responsibility for running the Programme. Working directly with participants on capacity building, Project Coordinators will develop and deliver capacity building and evidence collation workshops, contribute evidence to policy making processes and engage with stakeholders, including media where relevant.

Community Women's Organisation/Centres: will provide safe and welcoming training venues and address childcare/eldercare needs for participants removing barriers and creating safe spaces for women to explore new skills. Increased flow of women using the centres, increases their capacity building and sustainability.
